Patek Philippe, Ref. 3404

This elegant Patek Philippe Ref. 3404 is a beautifully crafted 18k rose gold dress watch from the mid-1960s. Its square case, measuring 27.5x33mm, offers a refined and minimalist design, perfect for formal occasions or adding a touch of class to everyday wear. The original Patek Philippe band and matching rose gold buckle complete the classic look, maintaining the watch's authenticity and charm.

Powered by the manual Caliber 23-300 HW, one of Patek Philippe's most respected movements, this watch combines precision and elegance in a slim, elegant profile. The wide 23mm lugs give it a bold, balanced appearance on the wrist, while the 14mm buckle width ensures a secure, comfortable fit. On offer with its box, papers, and even the hangtag, this watch has been preserved in excellent condition, offering collectors a complete package.

Built around 1965, this watch showcases Patek Philippe's mastery of understated design and technical excellence. Its rose gold case has been kept in remarkable shape, with crisp edges and a beautifully preserved dial.

This Patek Philippe Ref. 3404, with its rare square shape and original accessories, is a true collector's piece that represents the best of mid-century watchmaking.
